

Inclusion month EUTOPIA

Fair and solidary UL

Programme

7 November Living books library: Stories of life and humanity

10.30-14.00

Living books share their life stories that break stereotypes and talk about taboo topics. 'Readers' have the chance to listen how individuals face and manage adversity; ask questions and learn about the unique lives of the Living books.

14 November EUTOPIA Alliance student projects: Together toward an open and creative society

10.00 - 14.30

Students of the University of Ljubljana will present their projects in the area of Inclusion and diversity. They will show how different academic disciplines research and discuss inclusion and which taboos exist across fields.

21./22 November EUTOPIA MORE Autumn school: Ecological Intelligence (EI)

To think ecologically does not only mean to concern ourselves with the impact that human actions have on our environment; it also requires us to rethink the concepts of agency and intelligence. It demands a fresh look at the concepts of inclusion and diversity. Our Autumn School places this task within the scope of what we term "ecological intelligence," defined as the entanglements of human and nonhuman agencies.
