1 Description of the event

Please describe the event – purpose, relevant work package, and other details. If possible, paste the event agenda at the end of the document.

Work package 5 (WP5) lead, University of Ljubljana (UL) has taken over the responsibility to organise the series of the Western Balkans workshops (WS) throughout the lifetime of the EUTOPIA2050 project. The workshops are a part of Sub-work package 5.2 (SWP5.2), which is focused specifically on the regional inclusion in Western Balkans region. As proposed in the Project bid, there will be eight (8) WS' within the period of three (3) years.

Initially, each of the planned workshops were supposed to be held in countries across the Western Balkans (WB), as to enable cross-border communication and networking not only for the WB universities, but also for EUTOPIA Partners. However, due to the limited mobility because of the COVID-19, the Western Balkans workshops are held virtually, using the Zoom platform. If the circumstances allow for it, future workshops will be held physically.

The purpose of the fourth workshop is to address some basic issues of university internationalisation strategies and their implementation with specific reference to the mobility of students. Experiences with student mobility in the period of pandemics were shared among participating students. Therefore, the workshop hosted university representatives and administrative staff involved in preparation and implementation of the internationalisation strategy, as well as students interested in sharing their experiences in interuniversity mobility.

2 Before the event

Describe the activities undertaken prior to the event – organisation, communication of the event, dissemination, and any other activity done before the event.

The event has been communicated through different channels – UL and EUTOPIA Twitter, Facebook, websites and Instagram. Aside from that, we have utilized University of Ljubljana's LinkedIn profile to reach a more business and academia-based audience. Based on contact lists from our previous workshops, we sent invitations to our former viewers, some of which have become our regular attendees of our workshops.

Presumably, our main communication channels have been shared and have reached a wider audience than the size of the following of each of the abovementioned locations.

Speakers were continually updated of the developments in the organization, and there were no issues with feedback or communication throughout.

5 Post-event dissemination and communication

Describe the plans after the event – communication with participants, surveys, dissemination plans, etc.

After the event, as is practice, we have sent out presentations from our speakers to our viewers. This has proved to be an appreciated practice, as the viewers have the opportunity to share the knowledge further in their institutions.

Both days of the workshop were recorded. Due to a technical error, recording from the first day was not successfully saved, meaning that the speakers received only a second day recording.

Please fill in the table with news, articles and other dissemination material for the event, if applicable.

6 Conclusions

Write down your conclusions from the event or any additional comments.

Overall, this workshop has been the most successful so far.

This workshop has hosted the highest number of attendees so far and has been sought out more by some new Western Balkans institutions. Another positive change is that the number of viewers did not fall toward the end of the workshop, which indicates that the viewers were more engaged and potentially that they were available to participate in the workshop in full. Based on this, we can conclude that beginning of October is a good period to hold such an event, as that is a less busy time of the academic year. The second day, which had a morning schedule, was less popular, which can be addressed by moving the second day to afternoon hours.

We have received a number of compliments on the organization and content of this workshop both from the viewers and the speakers, which is a good indication that the workshop was truly successful.

There are certainly matters that will be improved for the future workshops, but we are already seeing progress from previous events in several areas.
